WEEKLY NEWS

PRINCIPAL'S NOTE

SCC Community:

It has been a wonderful week here at SCC. It was a pleasure last night to see so many parents at our parent-teacher conferences. Nights like that are important in continuing to build the strong relationship between school and families that has become a pillar of SCC. Thank you to so many of you who stopped in and shared such positive stories about this school year. Please join me in saying a special thank you to our teachers who put in a full day work and then did the extra three hours last night and showed up ready to teach this morning!

I want to thank everyone who attended a dress code taskforce meeting or shared your opinion with me throughout the last two months. We heard a diverse set of opinions, feedback, and ideas. These conversations have helped me in developing a proposal for the 2023-2024 school year. While this won't please everyone, I am hopeful that it reflects the feedback that we have received. Please reach through the attached handout and feel free to provide feedback. The feedback I am looking for is regarding clarity and any possible confusion that may be caused by the current language. The actual "nuts and bolts" of the dress code will not change from this document.

We hope you have a fantastic weekend! Happy 2nd Sunday of Advent!

God Bless,
Mr. Patrick Monachino '03

We are still in need of recipes to create the CSBC Family cookbook. This is open to everyone; students, families, faculty, staff, and alumni. The cookbook will be sold to raise money for our 2023 Seniors sometime before Christmas. We are looking to get as many recipes as possible. We are extending our date for submissions until December, 4th.

If you're interested, you can submit a recipe through the cookbook flyer link attached to this email (Click the green button on the flyer). If you feel more comfortable emailing me a recipe or even handwriting it and sending it in, I will gladly put it in for you. My email is amondolfi@syrdiocese.org

***If you submitted a recipe electronically, please make sure that your response was submitted successfully. We've had some issues with recipes not going through. Luckily, your response will be saved on the form if sent unsuccessfully, just submit it again. Thank you!
