- Scholarship Opportunity: Bruce Boyea, CEO at Security Mutual, is sponsoring a contest for Seton students. He will be awarding $1,000 scholarship for the student who designs the most creative Facebook ad promoting the sale of “Sock Out Cancer” socks. The school will select a committee to review the ads and select a winner. If an underclass student is chosen the $1,000 will be targeted to next year's tuition. If a senior is chosen the scholarship will be directed to their college.
  The theme of the ad is "the gift of love". The thought is that the money raised from the sale of socks is donated to organizations that assist families confronting a cancer diagnosis with unexpected expenses. The campaign ads can suggest that the socks are a great gift for Christmas. Those interested in purchasing socks can be directed to the sockoutcancer.org website. Students can use Google images to get Sock Out Cancer images.

- Fall Fundraiser News: Orders for the fundraiser will be delivered to the school on November 28th. The students should then pick up the orders from Ms. Schmidt's room (#209) and deliver to their customers. Magazine orders will be delivered to the customers address based on number of subscriptions, etc. Thank you again for your participation! Students that sold five or more orders will receive a one day dress down pass for Tues, Nov21st, the day before Thanksgiving break.
